

Process for Qualification of New Dietetics Education Programs

Our accreditation process ensures a high standard of dietetics education is maintained. If you're developing a new dietetics program, you first need to apply for program qualification before you can apply for accreditation.

Process for program qualification

Program qualification is an opportunity for the university to establish a formal relationship with Dietitians Australia. It helps the university to evaluate if its dietetic education program is ready for accreditation.

'The Process for Qualification of New Dietetics Education Programs' details the process for a university to apply for assessment of a new dietetics education program.

This process is a precursor to the accreditation application process.

Download the Process for Qualification of New Dietetics Education Programs.

Programs with program qualification status

If you have questions about a qualified dietetics program, contact the university directly.

University of New South Wales

Bachelor of Nutrition/Master of Dietetics and Food Innovation (3894)

1 August 2022 until 31 July 2026

University of the Sunshine Coast

Master of Dietetics (Sports Nutrition) (MC001)

1 December 2023 to 30 November 2025

Victoria University

Bachelor of Nutritional Science / Master of Dietetics (HCND)

July 2020 until 30 June 2024

Master of Dietetics (HMDT)

1 July 2022 until 30 June 2024

Other accreditation documents

The Process for Qualification should be viewed along with the following documents. These documents will help the university to give evidence their dietetics education program is ready for accreditation.

Accreditation Standards for Dietetics Education Programs

Details the minimum requirements that Universities need to demonstrate to gain accreditation for their dietetics education program.

Evidence Guide for the Accreditation of Dietetics Education Programs

Guides universities in submitting evidence they meet our accreditation standards.

Get in touch

If you have questions about accrediting your dietetics course, contact us at accreditationadmin@dietitiansaustralia.org.au

Accreditation of university programs

We accredit university programs to ensure a high standard of dietetics education in Australia. Learn how to accredit your university's dietetics programs.

Accreditation fees and charges

Our fees for the accreditation of a dietetic education program and to maintain the accreditation. See our fees.

University programs

A full list of dietetics programs accredited by Dietitians Australia. You usually need an accredited degree to become an Accredited Practising Dietitian (APD).