Employment White Paper response

Submitted to The Treasury, Australian Government.

Dietitians Australia provided a response to the Employment White Paper Terms of Reference. It highlights the important role that allied health professionals, including Accredited Practising Dietitians, play in building a sustainable care economy.

Dietitians play a critical role in the prevention of disease and in the treatment and management of ill health. Dietitians are currently underutilised as a national workforce and have additional capacity that can be utilised quickly.
